ADVICE TO ALL EXHIBITORS

(Ref: Royal Horticultural Society Show Handbook and Judges' Advice)

1. Read schedule and rules carefully and adhere to them. If in doubt, ask a member of the Committee. Failure to comply can easily mean disqualification.
2. Note date and time for receipt of entry forms, staging exhibits, prize giving and exhibit removal.
3. Plan ahead. Do not leave everything until the last moment. Allow plenty of time for staging your exhibits.
4. Do not make more entries than you expect to fulfil.
5. Encourage friends to enter. Help them to do so. The more exhibits the better the show, and all the more rewarding if you win.
6. Prizes are nice to receive, but the major honour is in taking part to make the show more rewarding for everyone.
7. Double check the number of specimens against the schedule when setting out your entries. It is wise to take spares in case of accidental damage.
8. PRESENTATION OF EXHIBITS
 - (a) Blooms in vases should face forwards and upwards towards the judges. Flower heads should be arranged symmetrically with an even balance of quality and position in the exhibit.
 - (b) When more than one bloom is called for in a vase, the number of stems should be clearly seen. The vase should be of an appropriate size for the size of the flowers.
 - (c) Plants shown in pots should be cleaned up before exhibiting. Any debris should be removed from the surface of the compost and any dead leaves or flowers removed. Pots should be cleaned. Pot size is the internal dimension.
 - (d) Plants with obvious pests and/or diseases should not be exhibited, since this causes a hazard to the surrounding exhibits and is unfair to other exhibitors.
